LOOKS LIKE COX AND COOLIDGE

Ohio Voters Likely to Get Behind These Candidates.

PRIMARY TO BE HELD TUESDAY

But Little Campaigning Done in the Buckeye State and a Light Vote is Expected—Interest Centering in the Candidacy of Harry Daugherty for Delegate-at-Large to Republican Convention.

Columbus, April 23.—Political leaders here expect Ohio voters at the state primaries tomorrow to get behind Calvin Coolidge for the Republican presidential nomination and James M. Cox for the Democratic nomination for president.

Both Cox and Coolidge have the backing of their state party organizations. There will be four slates of candidates for delegates to the two conventions, Cox and McAdoo on the Democratic side, and Hiram W. Johnson and Coolidge on the Republican ticket. However, the Cox and Coolidge slates are the only complete ones. There is one vacancy on the delegate-at-large list for McAdoo and several vacancies among the district delegates and alternate candidates for both McAdoo and Johnson.

Ohio Democrats will elect eight delegates-at-large, the same number of alternates, 44 district delegates and 44 alternates. The Republican party is to elect seven delegates-at-large, seven alternates-at-large and 44 district delegates and the same number of alternates. Two of the Coolidge candidates for delegate-at-large are women, Mrs. David Tod of Youngstown and Mrs. J. G. Battelle of Columbus. In addition, on the Coolidge ticket are 15 as district delegates. Out of a total of 236 competing candidates for delegates and alternates, 49 are women.

Little campaigning has been done in Ohio and a light vote is expected. Senator Johnson stumped the state last week and the claim has been made by his supporters that delegates not pledged to Mr. Coolidge stand for the "overthrow of Daughertyism."

The candidacy of Harry M. Daugherty for delegate-at-large to the Republican convention seems to be holding the spotlight of interest, due in part to the fact that observers concede easy sailing for the Cox and Coolidge forces, while there has been little way of telling in advance the sentiment regarding Daugherty.

No statement has been made by either Coolidge or Cox managers, but Wilbur D. Wilkin, Ohio chairman of the McAdoo-for-president committee, made the prediction that Mr. McAdoo would be given the support of a majority of the Ohio delegation in the national convention.

State Senator George H. Bender, Ohio Johnson manager, issued the following statement: "If those in the Republican party who make up the vast majority of its membership and who believe in common honesty in government and are opposed to crooked politicians turn out to vote, not only will Hiram Johnson carry Ohio by an overwhelming majority, but every one of the Johnson delegates will be elected to the Republican national convention."

PROGRAM SUGGESTED

Mother and Daughter Week to Be Observed May 11-18.

Columbus, April 28.—Arthur T. Arnold, general secretary of the Ohio Sunday school council of religious education, announced that mother and daughter week will be observed May 11-18 through the Sunday schools, the Y. W. C. A., and other organizations. Each Sunday school in the state is expected, he says, to put on a program on May 11.

A suggested program has been jointly prepared by the International council of religious education and the national board of the Young Women's Christian association, which organizations announce that the purpose of the week's observance is fourfold: First, to give the mother a better understanding and appreciation of her daughter; second, to give the daughter a better understanding and appreciation of her mother; third, to help both mothers and daughters to find in the church and the Sunday school the channel for the expression of their finest service, thus securing the work and support of the church; the co-operation of both the older and younger women; fourth, to bring to a focal point the community-wide interest in mother and daughter relationships.

Killed by Train.

Wooster, O., April 28.—G. U. Baumgardner, 55, superintendent of Wayne county schools, was killed at Creston, near here, when a train struck the automobile he was driving.

FADES SERIOUS CHARGE

Man Alleged to Have Attempted to Poison His Wealthy Wife.

White Plains, N. Y., April 28.—Clarence O. Baring, aged 40, advertising representative of a Minnesota concern, is charged with having attempted to murder his wealthy wife by poisoning her food. He was held without bail after having pleaded guilty to the charge except as to the "intent to kill." A special grand jury was called today. Baring is said to be wealthy in his own right. Authorities said Mrs. Baring filed the charges April 14; that she was expecting soon to become a mother; that a young woman living in the west was named in connection with the search for a motive for the poisoning, and that state police had been working on the case for 10 days.

CHILD LABOR BILL BEFORE SENATE

Proposes Amendment to the Federal Constitution.

AFFECTS ALL UNDER EIGHTEEN

Bitter Legislative Contest Expected This Week in the Senate, Which Takes Up the Income Tax Rates in the Revenue Bill—Chairman Smoot First to Demand Showdown on the Mellon Schedule.

Washington, April 28.—The senate today received from the house the resolution proposing a child labor amendment to the federal constitution.

Fate of the proposal in the senate is problematical. It passed the house by a vote of 297 to 69, or 53 more than the two-thirds required for passage.

The resolution would empower congress to limit, regulate or prohibit the labor of children under 18 years of age. An amendment to make the resolution apply to children under 16 instead of 18 years of age, as originally provided for, was defeated.

In the house opposition was based chiefly on the ground that the proposed amendment, made necessary if congress is to have authority to deal with the problem, by action of the supreme court in twice declaring federal child labor laws unconstitutional, would constitute an invasion of state rights. Proponents of the resolution contended that a federal standard must be set up to bring certain states which have been backward in the enactment of child labor legislation to a more rigid requirement. The resolution would enable congress to set a minimum standard beyond which states would be free to go in controlling the problem.

Income tax rates in the revenue bill were taken up by the senate today and a bitter legislative contest is expected to feature the week.

A showdown will be demanded first on the Mellon rates, placed in the bill by the finance committee Republicans in place of the Longworth compromise adopted by the house. Chairman Smoot said if the Mellon rates were rejected he would offer a succession of amendments, going up step by step to the maximum surtax rate. A schedule lower than that proposed by the Democrats and about the same as that adopted by the house on surtax rates would be adopted, he predicted.

Democratic senators predict their plan, calling for a maximum surtax rate of 40 per cent on incomes of $500,000 and over and 38 per cent on incomes of $200,000, will be adopted with the support of Republican insurgents. The Mellon plan would cut the present maximum surtax of 50 per cent, applicable to incomes of $200,000 and over, to 25 per cent on $400,000 and over.

Several senators have given notice they will propose repeal of the tax on telephone and telegraph messages. Repeal of this tax was recommended by Secretary Mellon and approved by the house. It was restored by the senate finance committee.

FULL FRUIT CROP SEEN

Late Spring Held an Aid to Growers in Southern Ohio.

Columbus, April 28.—A full fruit crop in southern Ohio has been made possible by the late spring, according to C. J. West, state-federal agricultural statistician. The bad weather delayed the buds so the frosts had no effect upon them, West said. Almost every peach tree in Lawrence and other southern Ohio counties is filled with blossoms and the outlook is favorable for a full crop. "The early apples are beginning to come into blossom and there is a full set of apple buds except for some varieties which had a very heavy crop last fall," he said. "The prospects are good for a full crop of cherries and plums and some settings of new peach orchards are reported."

Boy's Body Recovered. Cleveland, April 28.—The body of Louis Miller, 16, high school boy, who disappeared March 23, was found in the lake here. The boy had trouble in meeting requirements in mathematics and had been rebuked. It was said. The body was identified by the boy's mother.

Factory Burned. Sandusky, O., April 28.—Fire caused damage estimated at $15,000 at the plant of the Whitmer-Jackson company, window sash manuf. concern.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Charges Against Dry Agent. Van Wert, O., April 28.—Jack Melser, state prohibition inspector, appeared before Justice of Peace A. C. Gilkin here, waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury. Melser is charged with attempting to kill, threatening to shoot and attempting to assault I. S. Shaffer, formerly manager of a Van Wert poolroom. Charges are the outgrowth of the prohibition inspector's activities in Van Wert last February, when the inspector was working with H. A. Lowe, mayor of the city, in a clean-up campaign.

Crabbe to Take Charge.

Cleveland, April 28.—Attorney General Crabbe arrived here today to take over the Municipal Savings and Loan company muddle and to select prosecutors for the grand jury. Investigation ordered into its affairs by Governor Donahey. He said he would not make a decision on appointment of prosecutors until he confers with leaders of the local bar who are familiar with the status of the loan company.

Policeman Fired Upon.

Cleveland, April 28.—Charged with shooting to kill and violating the liquor law, Mary Hamulak is under arrest here. When a police liquor raiding party attempted to search her home on a warrant Mrs. Hamulak is alleged to have fired at a policeman. Police claim they found a 20-gallon still, a quantity of mash and two gallons of liquor in her home.

Sentenced to Prison.

Canton, O., April 28.—Oscar Harris of Warren, O., was sentenced to serve from two to 15 years in the penitentiary in common pleas court here when he pleaded guilty to an indictment charging assault with intent to kill upon Charles Garner, custodian of the Alliance city hall, during a jail delivery several months ago.

Prominent Elk Dead.

Toledo, April 28.—Charles Seymour, 86, tyler of Toledo Lodge of Elks for 40 years and oldest tyler of the order in the nation, died here of infirmities due to old age. Seymour was known to practically every Elk in the country.

Gets Maximum Penalty.

Cleveland, April 28.—A life imprisonment sentence was imposed upon Arthur Brown, 24, for burglary of property worth only $153. His long criminal record called forth the maximum penalty.

Child Crushed to Death.

Dayton, O., April 28.—Frances Handy, 8, was crushed to death beneath the wheels of a truck. According to witnesses, the child coasted into the street in a small wagon.

Mistaken For Chicken Thief.

Urbana, O., April 28.—Don Hurlow was shot during the night by Pearl Grove, his neighbor, and seriously wounded. They mistook each other for chicken thieves.

Two bandits held up Henry Bowers, cashier of the Springfield bank, a private institution at Springfield, Ind., and escaped with an undetermined amount of money.

Million Dollar Blaze.

Lowell, Mass., April 28.—Fire destroyed two office buildings and adjoining structures here, with a loss of $1,000,000. E. B. Cunningham, a fireman, was crushed to death when a wall collapsed.

INQUIRY MADE BY MELLON

No Irregularities Found in the Bureau of Engraving.

MAKES REPORT TO COOLIDGE

Secretary of Treasury Declares That the Charges Made by Attorney Brewer of the Department of Justice Contain "No Element of Fact." No Fraud or Carelessness Disclosed on Part of Employees, He Says.

Washington, April 28.—Charges of irregularities in the bureau of engraving are baseless, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon found after an investigation.

Mr. Mellon reported to President Coolidge that as a result of his inquiry he was enabled to confirm the integrity of the government's securities, and that the charges made by Charles B. Brewer, department of justice attorney, and which were accompanied by wholesale dismissals in the bureau by President Harding, contained no element of fact. Mr. Mellon said:

"There has been no fraud or carelessness on the part of officials or employees responsible for the safeguarding of the retired securities. Mr. Brewer had called attention to losses during a period of seven years. The total of these was $13,100, and were the result of thefts committed by subordinate clerks or messengers in the treasury. It has been pointed out that this loss, over a period of seven years, during which time over $100,000,000 in securities were handled by thousands of employees, is by no means a reflection upon the officials or employees of the treasury responsible for the safeguarding of retired securities, nor upon the treasury's system of controls and audits. Incidentally, the thefts of securities illustrate the danger of retaining indefinitely and not destroying the dormant stocks of retired securities.

"Mr. Brewer's report indicates a conspicuous avoidance of fairness, and the frequent adoption of artful and evasive methods. Where the facts are susceptible of distortion, Mr. Brewer resorts to distortion; where the omission of details will pervert a situation, Mr. Brewer resorts to omission; where misstatement of the facts will strengthen a charge, Mr. Brewer resorts to misstatement; where irrelevance will tend to obscure the facts, Mr. Brewer resorts to irrelevance, and where neither distortion, omission, misstatement nor irrelevance will serve his purpose, Mr. Brewer resorts to insinuation and innuendo."

WARRANT WILL BE SERVED TODAY

Mal Daugherty to Appear Before Bar of the Senate.

Washington C. H., O., April 28.—A warrant for the arrest of Mal M. Daugherty, banker here, is expected to be served today by a deputy sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate.

The deputy arrived here yesterday and found Mr. Daugherty out of the city. The warrant commands that Daugherty, who is a brother of former Attorney General Daugherty, be brought before the bar of the senate, because of his failure to respond to a summons of the senate committee investigating the record of the former attorney general.

Chairman Brookhart of the investigating committee reported to the senate that the Ohio banker on two occasions had failed to obey senate subpoenas. The committee sought not only his testimony, but the records of various financial transactions in his bank here.

MILLER ISSUES WARNING

Improper Use of Gasoline Fatal to Hundreds Every Year.

Columbus, April 28.—State Fire Marshal Louis F. Miller issued a statement in which he said that gasoline and fumes therefrom ignite much more readily than most persons believe. Every year, Mr. Miller asserted, hundreds of persons are killed or seriously injured as the result of the improper use of gasoline and during the spring and summer months the toll of death and suffering from this cause is the heaviest. He added:

"The gasoline that sends our automobiles and trucks over our streets and highways is one of the most powerful explosives with which we are familiar. It has been demonstrated that the vapor from a gallon of gasoline properly mixed with air has as much explosive force as 83 pounds of dynamite. No one would keep 83 or even one pound of dynamite in the house, but many people think nothing of keeping a gallon or more of gasoline in the home and handling it as carelessly as water."

Mr. Miller also called attention to the peculiarity of gasoline, which makes it extremely dangerous. Gasoline, he explained, is heavier than air and sinks to the earth instead of scattering. A small quantity of gasoline will fill a room with vapor, and because of the explosive nature of this vapor the gasoline may be easily ignited.

BROOKS EXECUTED

Perry County Negro Pays Supreme Penalty For Murder.

Columbus, April 28.—Charles Brooks, colored, of Rendville, Perry county, was electrocuted at the Ohio penitentiary at an early hour today for the murder of Henry Burns of Rendville. Burns was killed in an argument over liquor, it is said. The case of Brooks was taken before the court of appeals and the supreme court, both upholding the decision of the lower tribunal, setting his date for April 28.

Louis Rossi of Youngstown will die in the electric chair tomorrow morning for the killing of Nick Ferrito of Youngstown. Rossi, according to his testimony at the trial, was having a party at his house. Ferrito entered and was ordered out. During the argument Rossi struck Ferrito with a ball bat, killing him.

MARKET REVIEW

Columbus, April 28.—Market conditions during the past week are reviewed by the Ohio division of markets as follows:

LIVE STOCK AND MEATS—Chicago prices ranged from 10c to 30c lower for the week, with top $7.45 and $7.65 for the bulk. Medium and good beef prices 15c to 75c lower at $7.55@11.50; heavy cows and heifers 25c to 65c lower at $7.75@10; feeders 25c higher at $5.50@9.50; veal calves 25c off at $14.25@16.50; yearlings 50c lower at $11.50@14.50; and fat ewes $1.50 to $2.25 lower at $5.00@7.50. In eastern wholesale fresh meat markets beef is weak to 50c lower on medium grades and 50c higher on good grades; veal is weak to 25c off, lamb $1 to 25c lower, with mutton 25c to 50c off, and light pork loins 50c to $1 higher, heavy loins 50c up. April 26 prices, good grade of meats: Beef, $15.50@18.50; veal, $11@15; lamb, $2.60@2.85; mutton, $15@18; light pork loins, $15.50@19; heavy loins, $12@15.50.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Potato markets generally dull. New York round whites 5c to 10c lower at $1.65@1.95 sacked and bulk per 100 pounds; northern round white 10c lower in Chicago at $1.10@1.25. Florida spaulding rose unsettled at $8.75@9.50 per barrel, $7.67 50 c. o. b. Texas bliss triumphs mostly $5 sacked per 100 pounds in midwestern markets. DOG IS PUT TO DEATH IN AN ELECTRIC CHAIR

One Shock Ends Life of Homeless St. Bernard.

Lynn, Mass.—Nero, a St. Bernard dog, homeless and sick, paid the death penalty in the electric cage at the Animal Rescue Home on Neptune street. Nero was executed because he had no guardian and, running at large, had become a menace to the public.

The dog was led to the execution chamber after the hair around the neck had been cut close and a steel collar connected with electric wires put around his body. His feet were doused in water and he stood on a steel plate, making a circuit for 1,500 volts of electricity.

That death was instantaneous was proved when the cage was opened twelve seconds after the current had been turned off. The dog was found lifeless on the bottom of the cage, his eyes open.

Experts who saw the execution said that a similar machine, but larger and with a heavier voltage, could be successfully operated in slaughter houses and undoubtedly would be tried in the near future.

The execution cage is the invention of Huntington Smith of Boston and Prof. William L. Pusfer, formerly of the department of electrical engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

U. S. Bureau Organized in Three Major Groups

Washington.—The work of the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture, is now organized in three major groups dealing with the economics of production, marketing and general agricultural matters that concern both production and marketing, including agricultural finance, land economics, agricultural co-operation, and farm population and rural life.

The organization comprises a Washington office with 900 employees and a field organization including 148 branch offices in 79 cities and employing 9,000 persons. The bureau has contracts through its own staff with every important agricultural industry.

The leased telegraph wire system of the bureau, covering more than 7,000 miles, formerly used for market news only, has also been made available for the dissemination of crop and live stock estimate information. A system of radio broadcasting provides communication with all the important agricultural sections of the country.

Waterworks Is Given to Village by Woman

Bennington, Vt.—The voters of the Village of North Bennington at their annual corporation meeting recently accepted from Mrs. Laura H. Jennings of New York the water system recently completed, her testimonial to her husband, Frederick B. Jennings, who died in 1920.

The property conveyed cost about $170,000. The deed of gift provides that $40,000 of income from rentals may be expended in the construction of a sewer system. Once the system has been built the net income from water rentals is to be expended for the benefit of the inhabitants of the village.

Police Guard Benefactor From Crowds of "Needy"

Irvington, N. J.—Police are on guard to protect the home of Christian Mueller, wealthy retired noodle manufacturer, against crowds of "needy" men who have presented themselves constantly since Mr. Mueller gave a helping hand to a stranger a few weeks ago.

Mr. Mueller has made substantial gifts of money to those seeking financial assistance. Some of the recipients promised to repay when they secured employment, but Mr. Mueller said the gifts would be discontinued until his experiment had shown the promised results.

Mute's Prize Hen Lays Eggs of Phenomenal Size

Kansas City, Kan.—W. H. Cunningham, poultry producer, near Rosedale, is displaying a carton of eggs averaging 8½ by 7 inches the long way and middle circumferences. Cunningham is deaf and dumb. He called attention in a written conversation to dimensions of eggs laid by Betty, prize buff Orpington hen, belonging to members of a Kansas City, Kan., fire station.

Betty won second prize at the Heart of America poultry show last year.

Straight Line to Be Favored Frock

Outgrowth of Simple Middy Blouse Is Scheduled to Hold Popularity.

A new and charming fashion has grown out of the two-piece idea in women's dress. It is a straight-line version of the simple middy blouse, according to a fashion writer. Parisian dressmakers made this a popular thing late last summer. It has been shown at the most exclusive shops in various attractive guises and will, without doubt, be one of the most worn of the new fashions throughout the spring and summer of 1924.

These frocks are simplicity itself, yet lend themselves readily to the knowing and distinctive little touches which make for style.

The frocks may be bought at any shop of the better type and, of course, they can be copied by a clever seamstress for much less.

Another flannel frock with plaited skirt has simple bodice and the regulation middie neckline. The little monogrammed tab is the very newest version of the craze for motifs and is attached at the top only. This is always embroidered in contrasting color, usually in black or white.

A winsome model would be most attractive of black satin with pipings of white satin. It has a simple wraparound skirt and small, well-placed pockets, and is finished with a bias band at the bottom of the blouse. One

Latest Version of the Popular Middy Blouse.

of the new French neckties of white grosgrain, embroidered with a black monogram, adds a sophisticated touch to this frock.

Another dress would be very smart made of that fashionable new material —silk alpaca. This style is a becoming one for the more mature woman, with its neckline modified by the little buttoned waistcoat and rolling collar of white pique. The skirt may be the straight or wrap-around variety, as you choose, and the flaring sleeve with the undersleeve of pique will be smartest if fastened with cuff links.

Oriental Influence in New Paris Novelty

One of the latest novelties from Paris owes its existence to the Oriental influence, and is so designed as to give the impression that the wearer is standing behind a transparent three-panel Chinese screen.

The robe itself is of gold lace, of the sheath type, falling unbroken from the straight neckline to the ankles. The center panel of the screen which hangs before this is of semi-transparent lacquer chiffon, embrodered in dragon and pagoda designs in gold. It is attached to the dress at either shoulder. The two other panels, similarly embroidered, are attached at either shoulder and wrist. Heavy tassels at the bottom keep these three panels straight, and when the arms are raised to the level of the shoulders a perfect representation of a three-leaf screen is presented.

Craze for Brown, Bronze Slippers for Evening

Elaborate are some of the latest styles in evening shoes received from Paris. The daintiest silks are used, some garish fancies, in the metal brocades. The most ornate dancing slippers seen in a fashionable shoe store are made of silk in Dresden colors, with an arabesque pattern traced upon it in gold thread. The buckles are set with brilliants and the Louis Quinze heels are gilded. For afternoon dress and less formal evening wear there is a craze for brown, bronze and brown satin slippers, with the sheerest chiffon stockings to match, and handsomely cut bronze buckles.

Prim Straight Collar Band

Beside the elongated V-shape used for the sleeveless jacket one also sees a model inspired by the popular Chinese coat. It has, however, no opening in the front other than a show slash, but the prim straight band collar declares its origin.

World's Smallest Book
in Library of Congress

Some of the interesting curiosities at the Library of Congress in Washington are: the smallest book in the world, the longest printed work in the world and the largest book in America. The smallest book is a copy of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam.
The longest work is the Tu Shu Chinese encyclopedia, while the largest book in America is James Audubon's
"Birds of America."

The midget Rubaiyat is only threeeighths of an inch wide and one-eighth of an inch thick. Letters in the book, even on the title page, are so small that they can be read only with the aid of a powerful magnifying glass.
Its 48 pages of Japan paper are daintily stitched and bound in green paper. The printing of the mammoth Tu Shu Chinese encyclopedia has been called the "greatest typographical feat in the world." Three years were required to print its 5,280 volumes with their 800,000 pages. The table of contents alone is forty volumes. A copy of this voluminous work printed at Shanghai was given to the United States by the emperor of China in 1908. Audubon's "Birds of America," the giant American book, is forty inches long, twenty-six and one-half inches wide and two and one-fourth inches thick. So large are its pages that on one of them a turkey is produced in life-size. The set comprises four volumes. They are bound in red horsehide and were presented to the library by Audubon himself in 1827.—Detroit News.

HERRICK
REFRIGERATORS

HERRICK
DRY AIR SYSTEM
REFRIGERATOR

The Big Difference In Refrigerators

The main object of any refrigerator, of course, is the preservation of foods. The refrigerator that will keep foods in perfect condition longest is naturally the refrigerator you want—provided it doesn't increase your ice bills.

The Herrick answers those requirements with facts—not claims.
And it does even more. It actually decreases your ice bills while giving you more effective food preservation.

And why? Simply because the Herrick is far more than an ice box—far more than a cold storage place. It is built on the scientifically demonstrated principle that more than merely cold air is necessary to keep foods in good condition for any great length of time.

Perhaps the biggest essentials to scientifically correct refrigeration are—

- No. 1. Circulation of cold dry air.
- No. 2. Effective Insulation.
- No. 3. Air-tight construction.

That the Herrick has these necessary essentials is a demonstrated fact.

Many proofs of the truth are visible even to the least informed purchaser. Others are hidden within the walls of the refrigerator, but nevertheless there, performing their functions so important to good health and economy.

SPRING TREATMENT.

I can prescribe for you just what to do—

A teaspoon of sky that is balmy and blue,

Twenty full drops of the green out-o'-door,

A teacup of laughter, and maybe some more;

Take them, and never remember a thing

Except that it's April—and I'm Doctor Spring!

Laugh on your houses, asylums and such;

I never did think they amounted to much!

When I get a patient who wants to get well

I send him for violets down in the dell,

And when it's not violets, dear-o, but he

Can fill up on daisies, or crocus—that's me!

Out with the hospital; leave that alone!

When I'm prescribing I like best the tone

Of the sweet fields and meadows, the laies and the hills—

Beats all the plaster and beats all the pills!

Just have to see them to know what it means—

All the best medicine comes from wild greens!

Now for your pulse, man, it's beating away

As if you had turned every care into play;

And your eyes shining brightly, your cheeks are both red—

Get up and dance or go stand on your head!

Nothing's the matter, not even a thing—

And that's from consulting your old Doctor Spring!

YEAR-ROUND SCHOOL
FAILURE IN NEWARK

Pupils Need Rest to Assimilate Education.

New York.—Schools must close for the summer vacation if the children are both to get and assimilate their education, Dr. David B. Corson, superintendent of schools in Newark, reported in a survey of all-year instruction. Several of the schools in Newark tried the twelve-months' system, the experiment proving a failure, said Dr. Corson.

The all-year pupils were expected to complete the public school work in six years. Instead, it was found they were graduated at an average age of fourteen seven-tenths years. The small difference was more than offset in the superior physical and mental state of the latter group, Doctor Corson asserted.

Particularly noticeable is the defect in the all-year school when the boys and girls are ready for high school work, the superintendent said. A large proportion of them, through being "forced," have been "left back" and retarded in other ways during the primary grades work. On reaching high school their deficiencies become more obvious, and there is a large percentage of "mortality," or dropping from classes, among them.

One argument that favored the all-year school was a greater economy to the school board and city. Doctor Corson strongly denied that any such saving accrued. Had it been possible to graduate the pupils in the six years, as was contemplated, this saving would have been met. In view of the failure to accomplish this, the expenses proved as great as, if not greater than, the vacation school system.

Doctor Corson's report was originally read before the meeting of the department of superintendence of the National Education association. His experience tended to end the putting forth of suggestions to apply modern efficiency methods to primary children, or to force education by hothouse methods.

In the all-year school there are five reorganizations of classes in the course of each twelve-month period. These cause considerable confusion in the matter of examinations, acquiring of new teachers and turning to a new subject, to be taught in a slightly different method.

Irish Potato Registers

First in Food Contest

St. Louis, Mo.—The Irish potato, registered first with 8,100 votes, in a food popularity contest conducted in the public schools of six Nodaway county (Mo.) towns in a recent nutrition campaign. Under the auspices of the Nodaway County Red Cross chapter the voting was by the pupils, who scored one vote for each vegetable eaten at every meal during the seven days of the contest. Each day the votes were reported to the chapter headquarters at Maryville.

The final canvas of the votes listed twenty vegetables, registered as follows: potato, 8,100; onion, 3,179; sweet potato, 2,539; tomato, 2,191; navy beans, 2,139; cabbage, 2,055; turnip, 1,639; celery, 1,597; pepper, 1,457; corn, 1,323; lima bean, 912; beet, 884; lettuce, 836; squash, 755; peas, 649; string bean, 642; spinach, 589; carrot, 461; parsnip, 391; cauliflower, 252.

Judge Orders Defeated

Wooser to Kiss the Bride

New York.—Eddie Bransfield, taxi driver, wants the girls to know he is still single, though no longer unskipped. For two years Eddie wooed Edna Maxwell, an attractive dancing teacher. Recently Charles Ray, a seaman of the New York, in a spick-and-span uniform met Miss Maxwell and wooed and won her. They were married a few days later.

Endeavoring to win her back from Ray with a wicked-looking dirk, Eddie found himself in the West Side court on various charges. Magistrate listened to Eddie's story.

"Well, she's married now, so you'd better put that knife away," said the court. "I sentence you to kiss the bride and wish her luck."

Eddie lives at 127 East One Hundred and Second street.

Fight Grenade Duel
for Love of Woman

Berlin.—Hand grenades are the latest thing in dueling weapons in Hungary.

Two Hungarian students at the University of Budapest, who were both in love with the same girl and could not agree as to who should have her, decided to settle this question by a duel. The weapons they chose were hand grenades at 15 yards, two shots apiece.

The duel took place recently and when the handkerchief dropped both "duelists" threw their grenades, but nothing happened. The grenades failed to explode.

In the second round both grenades went off and bespattered the combatants with mud and snow. The referee and seconds thereupon decided that getting dirty was quite sufficient to satisfy honor and declared the hand grenade duel a draw.

F. M. GRIMES
DIED SUNDAYOne of County's Prominent Farmers and a Most Exemplary Citizen.

Was Lifelong Resident of This County and Lived Last Two Years in Circleville—Funeral Services Wednesday Afternoon—Burial at New Holland.

Francis Marion Grimes died at his home, 222 East Mound street, Sunday evening at twenty minutes past ten o'clock. He had been ill for several years and his death was due to paralysis.

The deceased came to this city two years ago from New Holland where he was born July 9, 1846. He was the son of George and Rachel Bowdle Grimes, residents of Ross county, who later moved to this county.

The Grimes family is one of the oldest families in this county and originally came from Virginia. The grandparents of the deceased, Benjamin and Sarah Anthony Grimes, were pioneer settlers in what is now known as Perry township, their land was originally a military land grant allotted to soldiers of the Revolutionary war.

Mr. Grimes married Miss Maria Igo who departed this life eighteen years since. Four children were born. A daughter, Grace, died in infancy. The surviving are Misses Anna and Estelle Grimes, of this city; and Albert Grimes, of New Holland.

Of his immediate family there are living two sisters; Louisa, wife of Judge George B. Bitzer, of Chillicothe, Maria, wife of Edward Coover, of Delaware; John Grimes, of Delaware and Joseph Grimes, of Kingston. Two grandchildren, Miss Florence Grimes and Dwight Grimes and one great-grandchild, Myron Grimes, are living.

A short funeral service will be held at his late home in this city Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock. Rev. Edwin K. Johnson will officiate. Following this ceremony the remains will be taken to New Holland where funeral services will be conducted at the Methodist Episcopal church Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. C. L. Thomas, of Adelphi. Interment will be in the New Holland cemetery.

The deceased was a member of the Methodist church and was also a member of the Masonic lodge of New Holland. He was a courteous gentleman of the old school, well versed, a man who was well read and an exemplary citizen.

CATTLE FEEDERS

Big Meeting Will be Held at Washington C. H. June 6.

Cattle Feeder's day at the Ohio Experiment station at Wooster has become an annual event. Feeders of beef cattle from all over Ohio assemble at Wooster on Cattle Feeder's day to review the cattle which has been on feed and to learn from the records of feeds given how they can most economically finish their cattle. However, Wooster is unfavorably located to the great cattle feeding section in southwestern Ohio. Consequently there has been a demand made on the experiment station authorities to hold a second Cattle Feeder's day nearer to the farmers of this section. This year for the first time the experiment station has agreed to bring their cattle with the records to Washington C. H. on June 6.

Two years ago twelve farmers from Pickaway county made a tour to Wooster and inspected the cattle on experiment and came back feeling that the trip had been worth while. This year it is expected that at least five hundred farmers will assemble at the yards of the Fayette Producer's company in Washington C. H., where the cattle will be exhibited. The date is Friday, June 6, and the program will last the entire day. Farmers of Pickaway county who are interested in cattle feeding are urged to make arrangements to spend this day at Washington C. H.

Wedding Superstitions.

The superstition that it is bad luck to get married on a rainy day comes from the old saying, "Happy is the bride that the sun shines on." There is another old superstition that a "snowy wedding prophesies wealth."

CHAPTER MEETING.

A special convocation of Circleville chapter, Royal Arch Masons, will be held Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The Most Excellent Master's degree will be conferred in full form. All members are urged to attend. 26april12.

Ohio Utilities Won From Ohlen Bishop Team by Score of 7 to 2.

The first game of baseball at Riverside park Sunday was won by the local team, The Ohio Utilities, from the Ohlen Bishop team, of Columbus, by the score of 7 to 2.

The opening game presented new faces on the local team; Spaun, third baseman; Lunn, shortstop and Ridge-way center fielder. The battery was Laver and Laver. The game was played without an error. The battery for the visitors was Ballenger and Hensel. A good crowd was present. If all the rubbernecks had been inside the field, the crowd would have been much greater and the receipts would have been much more.

Decided Improvements.

The Fritz bakery building has been improved with a new front. The doorway has been vestibuled and luxur prism and plate glass show windows have been put in. The work was done by Tull Barnes, contractor.

M. F. Reiche has just finished putting in a new front in his building, corner Main and Scioto streets. The work was done by Charles Cook & Son, and it is a decided improvement.

AMUSEMENTS

ita Naldi, screen siren extraordinary is a modern Cleopatra in "Lawful Larceny," a Paramount picture directed by Allan Dwan which will be on view at the Metropolitan theater for three days beginning next Monday. Miss Naldi is a modern with pure Egyptian flavor and she wears gowns that will inevitably create a sensation wherever the picture is shown.

Modern adaptations of this particular Egyptian period were made for Miss Naldi by leading designers of New York with the result that her gowns are said to be "le dernier cri" in Egyptian mode, which, according to the leading modistes, is to the dominating note in the fashions of this and subsequent seasons for years to come.

Miss Naldi is Cleopatra reincarnated, declared Mr. Dwan. "Many leading artists have said that she is the nearest to the famous Egyptian charmer to be found in America. With her long slender arms and limbs, piercing black eyes and raven black hair, she is wonderful in Egyptian clothes that are bizarre to the last degree and in a surrounding of ancient splendor.

"In 'Lawful Larceny' we give the public the newest ideas of Egyptian fashions and decorations. We have spared no expense and time in research for this material. Miss Naldi is a charmer of men in the picture and we have given her the latest weapons with which to work her charms."

Not only will Miss Naldi be clad in Egyptian gowns, but she will have a complete Egyptian background for her machinations against men. Every photograph of King Tut-ank-Amèn's tomb printed in this country was studied for ideas. No detail was overlooked in making Miss Naldi's latest appearance on the screen the most sensational of her career.

Suspects the Comp.

An Ohio paper reports a double wedding "where before the altar, Rev. John Nichols officiating, the two couples plighted their troth, exchanging the cows which made them man and wife." Rather odd, that idea of exchanging cows in church. We suspect, however, another exchange—that of the compositor, who probably substituted a "c" for a "v."

HARTMAN THEATER

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame," the massive and much heralded film production of Victor Hugo's immortal masterpiece which swept into overnight fame in New York, will be given its premier Columbus showing next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Hartman theater, Columbus, when it begins a limited engagement.

Never before, it is said, has there been offered a picture production, representing so stupendous a cost, $1,500,000, never a film presentation so exact in its details, so artistic in its conception, so wonderful in the acting of its seventy-five principals, two hundred sub-principals and in the handling of the mob scenes in which more than 3000 persons take part.

Len Chaney, admittedly the finest interpreter of unusual character roles either stage or screen, plays the ill part of Quasimodo, the deformed bellringer of Notre Dame, with Ernest Torrence as Chopin, the underworld king; and Pansy Ruth Miller as Esmeralda.

Carl Laemmle, who founded Universal City out in California, it is said has achieved something there which awakens the utmost admiration. He has taken Hugo's rather turgid melodramatic novel and after building a replica of Paris' famous cathedral, he has retold Hugo's story in pictures, vital, vivid pictures that hold the attention and excite admiration by their undeniable power and beauty.

The spirit of the story of Quasimodo the hunchback, an elemental creature twisted in body and restricted in mind who haunts the great church. Quasimodo, as Len Chaney presents him, is said to be grotesque monster and yet under the forbidding aspect, the actor succeeds in making the character human and pitiful. His daring poses, on the projecting gargoyles of the cathedral, his bold descent, stone by stone, of the front facade of the great church, his hazardous swinging on the great bells at the risk of his life, the gruesome scene of his castigation in the market place and the pathos of his final act, as dying, he rings his own death knell on his beloved bells, are features that make "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" the most noted film production ever presented to the American people.

The seat sale for this film opens Thursday and mail orders will be filled promptly. The picture will be shown twice daily starting Sunday, April 27.

CIVIL COMMISSION

Examinations to be Held May 7 for Assistant Examiner in Patent Office.

There are 200,000 applications for patents on inventions now pending in the United States patent office, according to a statement today of the United States Civil Service commission. To speed up action, congress has authorized an appropriation which will permit the addition of 100 to the present examining force of 500.

The Civil Service commission will hold examinations on May 7 and later dates for positions of assistant examiner in the Patent office. The entrance salary is $1860 a year and increases are provided up to $5000 a year.

The commission states that or approximately 80,000 applications for patents made annually fully two-thirds of them relate to some phase of the automobile industry. The present system in the Patent office of examination before issue was authorized by an act of congress of 1836. The system has been copied by practically all large countries.

Florida Has Big Alligator Trade.

Florida's trade in alligators amounts to nearly $1,000,000 a year, according to figures of men who know. Museums and wealthy families provide a steady demand for live baby alligators, and the demand for skins never lessens. The alligator's upkeep is not costly, for he eats during only five months of the year.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Mrs. Morgan M. Moore, of New York City, entertained to dinner Sunday at the Bogs in honor of the birth day anniversary of her mother, Mrs. Sarah Crow. Covers were laid for the honoree, her sister, Mrs. W. W. Stokes, of Dayton, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Crow and daughter Jeanne, of this city, and Mrs. Moore.

Complaints are coming in from property owners of the malicious destruction of iron ornamental fences by boys who seem to take a delight in seeing how many pieces of iron they can break off or twist in fences. It is about time that these young boys bent on destruction are given a lesson. Just recently, irreparable damage was done to plate window glass and much damage has been done to fences and buildings.

The April meeting of the Jackson W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. John Ward. A short program was given consisting of readings and music.

The letters were read by the secretary, one from Mrs. Charles Parks, county superintendent of Bible in public schools, urging more Bible study be done in our schools. The other, from Mrs. Lucy Price, the county president, regarding the Jubilee Membership fund.

Our Union is steadily growing, the names of three new members having been added at the meeting.

After the business meeting, followed a social period during which refreshments were served by the hostess.

The regular meeting of the Tarlton W. C. T. U., will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sarah Hiatt. Plan to attend yourself and urge others to do so. The topic for study will be "Our Responsibility for the Better Observance of the Sabbath Day."

To Have and Not to Hold.

An employee of the Century company was behind the counter one day when a roughly dressed man entered and asked if any stories were wanted. The stranger had the appearance of having just come off an emigrant ship. Anything he cared to leave would be handed to the editors, the clerk told him. The man turned and walked out; the Century company had lost Robert Louis Stevenson.—William W. Ellsworth, "A Golden Age of Authors."

TIDES PREDICTED YEARS IN ADVANCE

Only Instrument of Kind Aids Geodetic Survey.

Washington.—Time and tide wait for no man, nor do the scientists of the United States coast and geodetic survey in Washington wait for the tides. By means of the only machine of its kind in the world the tide for Astoria, for instance, is already predicted for 1926 and all skeptics are invited to compare the predictions with their actual observations on March 1, 1926, if they care to wait that long. For Astoria, high tide will be at 2:06 a. m. and 2 p. m. and low tide at 8:25 a. m. and 8:38 p. m. High water measure 7.8 feet and 7.9 feet respectively, while low water will measure 1.8 feet and .5 foot respectively, above mean low water.

As far as that is concerned, scientists of the coast and geodetic survey can turn a few dials, set a number of complicated looking screws, jot some figures down on paper, turn a crank and predict the time and height of high and low tide for any port in the world a thousand years hence, and come within a fraction of an inch of being correct. Being correct is one of the main things the coast and geodetic survey is noted for. Mistakes might mean loss of life and many thousand dollars' worth of property.

Years of Work Required.

To explain the tide-predicting machine to the layman would be like expounding the Einstein theory to a moron, for it took many years to build it and each year meant endless calculations and study by men who had devoted their lives to learning the law of the tides and their relation to the sun, moon, winds and old Mother Earth herself. In appearance the tide-predicting instrument is something of a cross between a threshing machine and a radio set, if one can recognize the picture. But it resembles nothing, in reality, so much as the tide-predicting machine. It is made of shiny brass and blued steel, with cogs, pulleys, dials and a fine, flexible chain, which can over a hundred thousand miles in an oil bath to give it pliability before it was placed on the machine.

The tide-predictor sets dials on this machine which represent the 37 component parts of a tidal wave, and facing an instrument board which resembles on a larger scale that of an automobile, turns a crank. The machine does the rest.

Prediction Far in Advance.

Dials automatically turn to the day of the month, time and height of high and low water, while a pen busily traces on paper an exact replica, drawn to scale, of the tide wave as it will appear at that future time. So accurate is the machine that its predictions have been compared with actual observations and found to differ by the smallest fraction.

The machine represents the work of two of the survey's scientists, Dr. R. A. Harris, chief mathematician, now dead, and Dr. E. G. Fischer, mechanical engineer, who recently retired after long years with the government at a salary which would make a bricklayer laugh in disdain.

Tide-predicting is only one of the invaluable services rendered every year by the coast and geodetic survey to thousands of mariners. The tides are published a year in advance, printed in book form and made available to anyone who sails the seas or has to do with harbor facilities in any port. In addition, the organization is responsible for the charts that guide skippers up and down the coast line of the United States or into its countless harbors. Mapping, for the first time, the famous "inside route" to Alaska—which will aid in the development of that vast territory by allowing big steamers to reach its ports—is one of the recent and important tasks completed by the survey.

Man Battles With Bull While Lying on His Back

Middletown, N. Y. —Lying on his back on the ground, with an angry bull endeavoring to gore him to death, George H. Myers of Montgomery successfully fought off the animal until two men rescued him. He was leading the bull to a stable when it became unmanageable, knocking him down. Myers had an ax handle, with which he was able to beat back the attack of the bull, while with the other hand he clutched the ring in its nose.

Although Myers' arm was nearly twisted from its socket, he held to the ring until assistance arrived. The bull was shipped away for slaughter.

Big Drive of Hogs

Washington.—A double file of hogs around the world at the equator and a single unbroken line from the North pole to the southern end of South America is the graphic picture presented by the Department of Agriculture of America's slaughter of porkers last year.

The department's statisticians calculate the $1,532,000 hogs killed for consumption would reach 61,770 miles if placed end on end, allowing four feet for each hog. The same number, they add, if placed 21 abreast, would form a bristling lane from New York to San Francisco.

Sheriff Doesn't Fear Mob

Lufkin, Tex.—"I don't want any rangers here," declared Sheriff Watts in discussing his successful defense of the county jail against a mob. "When I can't handle my job, I'll quit and let some one else take my place."

TORCH EXPLODED.

While at work with a lighted gasoline torch in one of the ventilators over the machine room at the Mid-West Box Mills, the torch exploded burning Harley Bowen severely on the arms and breast. He was removed in Mader & Ebert's ambulance to the office of Dr. Howard Jones, where he was given medical attention. The explosion set fire to the woodwork of the ventilator, which is located above the machines. The fire department was called to extinguish the flames. The loss to the building has not been estimated. Alarm No. 32 was sounded at one o'clock.

A PET LAMB OF GOLDEN FLEECE

By JANE GORDON

(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

"YOU will tell one more story," said Delphine, "I will go to sleep like a little lamb."

"Just one, then," promised the governess, "and it shall be about a little lamb—the lamb of golden fleece."

"The old woman who came down the road leaned on a stick, and was poorly clad. At every house where she asked to be taken in for the night she was refused because, said one and another, 'we do not allow animals in our place.' But at the third house, and it was no more than a hut, the young woman who opened the door smiled sympathetically. 'You shall come in out of the cold, poor soul,' she agreed, 'and I will give to your pet lamb warm milk.'"

"In the morning, when the old woman buckled her shoes to go tramping on her way, she asked the kind young woman for a pair of scissors. Then, calling the pet lamb to her side, the old woman clipped from its white sides all the soft wool. 'A parting gift for you, my child,' she told her hostess. And lo, the wool as it fell turned to gold and went rolling in all directions—a flood of golden coin. As the young woman stooped to gather it up, the old woman disappeared. So there was nothing to do but keep the gift and travel with it to the land of her desire."

"But now, as she journeyed she was not happy. For she was traveling away from Love. And so she started back again, and there at the beginning of the path that led to the house that was no more than a hut, Love met her and she linked her arm in his, for she said, 'There is only true happiness where Love is—I have learned my lesson.' So she lived happy ever after."

"Do you suppose," asked Delphine sleepily, "that there is now a lamb with golden fleece, Millicent?"

The governess shook her head.

"Not even one?" coaxed the child.

Millicent kissed her charge good-night. "Well, maybe just one," she hoped.

The father of Delphine stood at the foot of the stair as little Miss Millicent came down. "I may go away in confidence tomorrow," he said gently, "knowing that my child is in your care. It was a happy day when you came to my motherless one, Miss Millicent."

The sun was shining brightly on the following morning when Millicent and Delphine walked the boxwood path. And there came toward them slowly a little, bent old woman, clad in black and leaning on a stout cane. Beside her trotted a snow-white woolly dog. Around his neck was a blue ribbon, with gold lettering.

The old woman stopped and peered into the face of the governess. "My dear," she said strangely, "you look as if you might have intelligence. Could you tell me of some possible place in this village where my dog would be cared for while I stop over at the hotel? I will have to be here a week, seeing after my farm investments, and at the inn they refuse to house my dog. Such nonsense! Of course Theodore did snap at the hotel man. He has a remarkable sense of detecting his enemies as well as friends. Why, at this moment he is coaxing you to caress him."

Miss Millicent was bestowing the coveted caress. The small animal wagged its feathery tail and Delphine bent to pat the white head. "He likes you, too," Millicent said slowly.

"I will take the little dog to our home," the governess offered, "and keep him during your stay."

"I cannot tell you how grateful I am," the old lady said, when she had come to take him away. She stopped to write a note and fold it into a thick envelope. "Read this after I am gone," she bade Millicent.

So when Millicent and Delphine had watched their friend drive off in the taxi, with the wagging dog beside her, together they opened the envelope. And from it there fell—bills and more bills. The governess stared in breathless surprise. "Five hundred dollars!" she exclaimed. Delphine was reading the letter. "It says," she read painstakingly, "that she gives you money so that you may not find out who she is and try to give it back."

"Now," asked Delphine, "that you have the money of the golden fleece, will you travel away to the land of your desire? And what is the land of your desire, dear Millicent?"

The young woman clasped the child close. "All my life," she said, "I have longed for the land of my desire, which was a career in music. But never was there money enough."

Someone came into the room where they were. "Father," cried Delphine, joyously, "I did not know that you had come back." And as the governess slipped away, Delphine told of the old woman and the dog, and of the old woman and her lamb of golden fleece.

The young father of Delphine bowed his head against her curls. "So," he said sadly, "Millicent has desired a musical career and now only may be able to gratify the longing. Then we must lose her. To you she has been as a tender mother, little daughter—while I had hoped to keep her always here—my wife." His voice broke. Millicent stood behind them.

"And if I went away," she said softly, "I would have to come traveling back again, for there is no happiness away from Love, and all my love is here."

How to Buy -- Build -- Finance Your Own Home

MANY PEOPLE are planning to secure a home of their own this spring. All are confronted with many perplexing questions—whether to buy or build and how to finance their properties.

The prospective home owner must decide for himself whether it is best for him to buy or build. The man who is unable to make the cash payment required on a house may be able to make payments on a lot. On the other hand, his judgment as to materials and construction may be untrained and the house which he would build might not be as good as the one he could buy, and if the price is right, it may be desirable to buy. Both plans should be thoroughly investigated before a decision is reached.

Things to Look For.

In either case, however, there are certain general property features that should be taken into consideration, such as (A) General location (B) Specific location of the lot, and (C) Other safeguards in buying property. Under general location come the consideration of land values, transportation facilities offered and the protection afforded to homes in the way of restrictions, police and fire protection.

Coming to the specific location, the character of the neighborhood, its location with reference to schools and playgrounds, and the desirable points of the lot itself, such as trees, shrubs and character of the soil, all must be studied with an eye to the needs of the individual family.

Under (C) are to be considered the problem of buying the property too long before building, in view of conditions of public utility improvements, such as paving, sewerage, water supply, gas and electricity, possible assessments, the proportion of lot value to the total outlay and the proper examination of the title.

If building, house plans should be so complete that the home builder, once his contract is signed, will not have to make extra expenditures which may seriously upset his financing arrangements. If funds are limited, there are many places where desirable economies may be practiced, but it should always be remembered that it is better to build a smaller house well than to have a larger one badly built.

In buying either a new or an old house, the condition of the building and the quality of the construction must be carefully examined. Look to the condition of plaster, woodwork, plumbing, heating, painting and roofing.

Don't Pay Too Much.

Don't pay too much for your property. Ascertain the value of other properties in the locality in which your prospective property is located. Get some builder to estimate the replacement cost of the property you are seeking. From the land values in that vicinity, estimate the value of the lot and to that add the builder's estimate of the property. However, allowance must be made for landscaping and other improvements. Be careful of your title—have it examined thoroughly.

It is not difficult to finance a home of your own if your reputation for thrift and economy is good and you have saved a little money, according to James A. Devine, secretary of the Ohio Building Association League. There are a number of reputable agencies which make loans to home builders and buyers, chief among them being building and loan associations. In this section 90 per cent of the homes are financed through building and loan associations.

It is desirable for a family about to buy a home to possess a minimum of 20 per cent of the value of the house in cash, even though arrange-

Maternal Co-operation

A fond mother, to whom her youngest son was indeed a Joseph asked him one day why he associated with "those low persons who live under the hill by the railroad tracks." He replied by introducing his mother to Mrs. Timothy Byrne, whose claim to fame rested in her parenthood of Timmy, Jr., the leader of the "gang." "This, mother, is Mrs. Byrne, an' she's teachin' Timmy to be a policeman, an' if he gets licked in a fight she licks him. Timmy hasn't been licked in more'n a month now. Mother, she's a grand woman, an' a great help to Timmy."

The 'Owling Howl'

A new-fangled cockney went to Devon to see a country house that he thought of buying and as the head gardener was showing him over the grounds a peculiar screech was heard from a neighboring thicket.

"What was that?" said the cockney, with a start.

"An owl sir," said the gardener.

"Yes, yes, my man, of course," said the cockney, "but what was 'owling'?"

WHERE HOOKED FISH IS PREY OF OTHERS

Anglers in Gulf Stream Often Find Catch Is Robbed

Visitors in Florida send numerous big fish stories back to the homefolk, and in many cases the homefolk are inclined to sniff. No sniffing is called for. Inland residents can hardly realize the abundance of fish in the warm waters of the ocean.

Along all the ocean front of the southern resort cities motor boats 20 or 25 feet long can be hired with the skipper and tackle and bait for about $25 a day to go out toward the Gulf Stream three or four miles to fish. The skippers know where the fish are to be found. The visitor merely specifies the fish he wishes to catch. In an hour the boat can be at the fishing grounds.

A strip of fish is put on the hook and the motor boat moves along slowly. The angler may have 75 or 100 feet of line out, and he wonders how he can tell when he gets a bite, with the boat rising and falling on the waves. Sea fish are game fish. When one strikes, the angler gets the idea that his hook has suddenly caught on a submerged log, so fierce is the tug. He has hooked a kingfish, a variety of the mackerel. The line is reeled in. Suddenly the fish has another idea, and away he goes for fifty feet or so. In comes the fish again. Meanwhile the boat owner, who usually keeps all but one of the fish and sells them, maneuvers the boat to aid the angler. In perhaps five or six minutes the fish is tired, but still struggling. The angler gets the fish close enough to see that he is a pretty fair size. He begins to wonder what will happen when he is brought closer to the boat. Then the line goes slack and is pulled in easily.

Some larger fish has rushed up to the hooked kingfish and taken a bite at him, leaving little more than the head and shoulders on the line. This is quite common. One man who was out three hours on a rough day off Miami says that he hooked eight kingfish, but two of them were bitten in two and another one was seized by a barracuda, a porpoise or some other bigger fish, and carried out to sea 200 feet. The bigger fish, grouper, sailfish and amberjack and sharks, are caught farther away from the shore. But any southern water fish tale is likely to resist the efforts of the most proficient liar in amplifying it.—Indianapolis News.

Sure Thing

Mr. Ives accompanied his wife on a shopping expedition and had seated himself at one end of the coat department while Mrs. Ives was looking over the garments. Suddenly he became aware of the fact that his wife was not to be seen. Walking up to the floorwalker he said:

"I can't locate my wife anywhere. What shall I do?"

"Just start talking to one of the pretty saleswomen here and I think your wife will soon put in an appearance."—Judge.

Might Lose Out

Arriving at a winter resort, a millionaire made inquiries at a fashionable hotel and was given a suite at a very reasonable rate. A few minutes later the proprietor noted this and took the room clerk to task.

"Why did you make the rate so moderate?" demanded the boss. "Don't you know that man came here in his own private car?"

"I know that," answered the clerk, "and I was afraid he might decide to sleep in it."

Money Satisfactory

"Here is that suit I bought of you last week," said the angry customer to the tailor. "You said you would return my money if it was not satisfactory."

"That's what I said," responded the polite tailor, rubbing his hands. "But I am happy to tell you that I found the money to be entirely satisfactory."—Reynolds' Newspaper, London.

Johnny's Rights

This little tale would be worthless if it were not fact.

Teacher (who has spent an hour of the "Citizenship" lesson talking about "Rights")—Have you any rights, John? John (who has apparently wool-gathered for one hour)—Yes, sir, two. Teacher (surprised)—Two? Why two?

John—A hand and a foot!

Your Hairs Are Numbered

Fair-haired people usually have between 140,000 and 160,000 hairs on the scalp. Dark-haired people have, on an average, about 105,000; while red-haired people are said to have only 30,000 hairs. But the latter apparently possess one great advantage in the fact that they seldom become bald.

One on Him

"Yes, indeed," said De Boast, "my hearing is extraordinarily acute."

"You don't say!" put in Van Broke. "Can you hear my watch ticking from where you stand?"

"Easily."

"Well, you're a wonder. It's at the pawnbroker's, ten blocks away."

Well Instructed

The Judge—Now, are you sure you understand the nature of an oath?

The Youth (scared stiff)—Sure; ain't I yer caddy down at the links?

FIRST AER-O-PLANE AUCTION SUCCESSFUL.

Large Crowd in Attendance and Valuable Articles Sold to Bondholders--List of Successful Buyers and of Business Houses Giving Bonds--Next Sale Will be at the Brehmer Garage May 31.

The first of the series of Aer-O-Plane auctions was held Saturday at the Stevenson Furniture store on West Main street and, a large sized crowd of people was present to see what Dame Fortune had in store for them.

To see people buy articles of merchandise and pay for them with coupons was a novel and interesting experience, all could not buy, but the more fortunate ones were easily picked out of the crowd for when their names were called as the successful bidders, their faces were illuminated with smiles.

R. L. Brehmer, of the local Ford agency acted as announcer and altho "Bob" has no license he got by and conducted the auction in good style. He was assisted by John P. Galleher, local manager of the Pickaway Lumber company, who acted as clerk.

Holders of coupons issued by the Aer-O-Plane company make their bids on the articles of merchandise by leaving them at the places designated and these are opened on the day of the auction. The person making the highest bid is awarded the article without further ado. If he is not present with coupons to the amount of the bid he made, the bid is disqualified and the next highest bidder is awarded the article.

At the sale Saturday quite a number of people were not present when their names were called, and in some instances the second and third bidders were called. Three minutes were allowed by the auctioneer for the person to come up and make his claim. If he failed to appear, the next highest bidder's name was called.

The articles of merchandise for the next auction are on display at the Ford and Fordson agency, on North Court street and the auction will be held at this place also.

The following articles were awarded:

No. 1. Congoleum rug to Mrs. Len Davis, Commercial Point, for $422.

No. 2. Five gallons barn paint, Noah G. Spangler, city, for $266.50.

No. 3. Chair to Miss Helen Roll for $141.50.

No. 4. Ten and a half pound ham, two bidders, George Strawser, $57; second, Mrs. Lloyd Welch, $53, awarded to the last named, as the first named was not on hand to claim the article.

No. 5. Twenty-five pound bag of sugar, Mrs. Lola Glick, $50.

No. 6. Axminster rug, Mrs. J. G. Bowman, for $127.50.

No. 7. One pair overalls, three bidders; James Weaver, Harold Hott and Harry Denman, awarded to the last named at $5.75, as the first and second named persons failed to appear.

No. 8. Twelve cans of fruit, two bidders, Mrs. E. H. Wardell, $127.50 and Mrs. Orion King $15; first bid was disqualified by not being present to make claim.

No. 9. U. S. cord tire, Morris Stainer, $432.50.

No. 10. Lady's purse, three bidders; Mrs. C. A. Kadel, $12; Mrs. Hazel Lefler, $11 and Miss Alma Wiloughby $3; the article was awarded to the last named at her bid.

No. 12. Hemstitched table cloth, Mrs. Ray Anderson, $20.25.

No. 13. A twenty-five pound sack of sugar, Charles Raney, $89.

No. 14. One thousand shingles, to Noah Anderson, $17.

No. 16. Lamp, three bidders; Mrs. Loring McAbee, Angie Lowery and Mrs. Jacob Walters, awarded to the last named, at her bid $41.

Number 17, incense burner, Katharine Morris, was disqualified by failing to call for article No. 23. An order for cleaning a lady's suit, Rosanna Stinson failed to call and her bid was cancelled.

No. 18. Twenty-five pounds of sugar, Miss Bertha Jones, $140.

No. 19. One pair of men's work shoes, Mrs. Avery Purcell, $33.

No. 20. U. S. inner auto tube, Mrs. George Hanley, $20.

No. 21. Simmond's iron bed, Earl W. Lutz, $120.

No. 22. Auto spot light, Paul Betz, $65.

No. 24. Lady's strap pumps, Mrs. Harry Riffe, $39.

No. 25. Twenty-five pounds sugar, Grover Yates, $148.

No. 26 had two bidders, neither of whom were there to make claim.

No. 27 had one bidder but he failed to put in an appearance and bid was cancelled.

Articles numbered 11, 15, 17, 23, 26 and 27 will be offered again at the next auction. Article 15, ten pound can of lard, had two bidders, Mrs. Charles Wright, highest and T. C. Fast second. Neither showed up at the auction and their bids were declared cancelled.

The auctioneer suggested that holders of coupons of small denominations exchange them for those of larger denominations in order to facilitate the counting. He said that the only place where coupons of small denominations are not given is the Union-Herald. This place gives sixteen dollars in coupons for every dollar paid on subscriptions to either Daily or Weekly.

The auctioneer announced that the merchants and other dealers in the Aer-O-Plane club would be glad to receive suggestions from any of their customers as to what they would like to have them put up for the sales. Only one bid from a family will be recognized, but any representative of the family can be present at the auction and claim the article, provided he presents the coupons to the value of the bid named.

Aer-O-Plane Bonds are given away at the following business places: Wilder's Cash Store. Stevenson's Furniture Store. Stocklen's, The White Grocery. Henn Bros. Meat Market. Geo. H. Fickardt & Co., Druggists. Circleville Tire & Repair Co. R. L. Brehmer, Ford Sales & Service.

TRACK MEET

Jackson School Won Over Circleville by Score of 64 to 6.

A dual track meet between Jackson township and Circleville high schools was held Friday afternoon. Out of a possible 70 points, Circleville secured 6, making the score 64 to 6 in favor of Jackson.

Kenneth List, of Jackson, was the high scorer of the meet, scoring 23 points while Lester List was responsible for 20 points.

Gardner Wilder is to be commended on taking the only second place gained by Circleville in any event. He showed good possibilities in his high jumping but a lack of practice was apparent.

The closing event, the one mile relay lacked the usual excitement as the competition was not great enough to afford interest.

Play to be Given at Farlow.

The Ladies' Aid society of Adelphi, will give their play, "The Minister" in the community house at Tarlton on Wednesday night, May 7. If you want to have an evening of good, wholesome fun, you should see this play.

It was given to full houses, both in Adelphi and at Centralia.

Strange Happening.

Billy was the favorite neighbor and playmate of little Jeanette. While Billy was visiting some relatives in the country he accidentally broke his arm. When he returned home with the arm in a sling and done up properly with splints, she cried in great excitement, "O, mamma, Billy has come home and brought his broken arm with him!"

Nuggets of pure gold are easily found in the Want Ad Column.

ELECTED DELEGATE.

Miss Helen Closson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Closson, a student at Oberlin college, has been elected a delegate to the National Republican Mock convention to be held at Oberlin May 12 and 13.

SALT CREEK

Township Sunday School Convention
Will be Held May 4.

The Saltcreek township Sunday School convention will be held next Sunday afternoon, May 4, beginning at 1:30 o'clock. In order to have the splendid high school orchestra under the leadership of Miss Pearl Eddy, the convention will be held in the Saltcreek school building. Two wide-awake speakers, Rev. Weir and Rev. Hill, have been secured and if time will permit, some round table questions will be presented. Each Sunday school is asked to urge its members to attend and be ready for the roll call. An offering will be taken for Sunday school work.

CREAM MARKETING

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Cooperative Cream Marketing association on Thursday evening, April 17, fifty new members were reported as having signed the contracts for selling their cream thru the association. The committee on locating a place of business has reported several places as being favorable but no decision has been reached. Applications for manager and truck drivers are being considered by the committee and they expect to be ready for business within four to six weeks.

WASTE PAPER.

The pupils of the grade school are buying some visual educational material thru the sale of waste paper. All those having waste material of this kind, are kindly asked to cooperate with the pupils in this enterprise by giving them your waste paper. 28April23.

VOTING PLACE.

In publishing the list of voting places at which you will cast your ballot tomorrow, Tuesday, April 29, the North precinct of the First ward was omitted. This will be at the grocery store of Mrs. James Brink on the south side of York street.

Spring Coats

ALL WOOL

$9.95

FULLY LINED

Three weeks ago we had a one day sale of plaid coats. On this one day we sold out the entire lot. One of our buyers went to the New York market and sent home what we really consider the best coat values we have ever had in our store.

These coats are all wool materials, fully linette lined, and in desirable colors.

You will be surprised at these values for $9.95

Come early as the manufacturers would only allow us a small number of these real values.
